Web Programming I (420-H11-HR) Marks Fall 2026 - Web Assignment 2 (Mobile Design)		Mark
Total Mark:		0%

	Mark	Out Of
Mobile set up using responsive web design techniques - Site looks good between 350px and 768px - Site looks good on Edge, Chrome, and Firefox on desktop and mobile - Site uses single column design for mobile - CSS is mobile first - Uses logical properties over physical properties - Navigation includes all links in top and bottom navigation on desktop - Refer to notes for mobile checklist/proper mobile design techniques		20
Pages - Set up properly with excellent, relevant information - Proper web design techniques used on all pages - Website has consistent look and feel - Navigation is set up properly using unordered list - Favicon used		10
Home page - Complete with proper data - Proper techniques used to create and format page - Has two images with one floated - Includes paragraph with good description of business - HTML validates		15
Page 2 - Complete with proper data - Proper techniques used to create and format page - HTML validated		10
Page 3 - Complete with proper data - Proper techniques used to create and format page - HTML validated		10
Page 4 - Complete with proper data - Proper techniques used to create and format page - HTML validated		10
Spelling and Grammar - No spelling or grammar mistakes		10
At least 5 advanced CSS properties used - Pseudo-classes - Pseudo-elements - calc(), gradients, filter(), transform, clamp() - Container queries - Flex - Grid - Good use of combinators (not including descendant combinator) - Position for accents - CSS nesting		5

Proper use of tags/properties - No embedded or inline CSS - No deprecated tags/properties - Uses semantic elements where appropriate		5
Deployed to GitHub Pages - README.md includes the website link		5
Images sourced in footer		5
GitHub Etiquette - Regular GitHub commits and files placed in the right location - No zipped folders		10
Organization marks - Pushed to GitHub - Does not repeat CSS code - Home page called index.html - Code is nicely formatted		10
Total	0	120
Final Percentage		0%